HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS

The United States is in the midst of an unusually severe winter, with sub-freezing temperatures all over the nation, even in southern Florida and the Rio Grande Valley of Texas.

Many states and regions have undergone their severest cold weather in many years, with a consequent sharp increase in more or less severe injuries from intense cold.

Be alert for beginning cold injury before tissue damage becomes severe, cautions Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association. A badly affected part, such as the ears or toes, may become aggravatingly sensitive to cold. Early symptoms of frostbite may be mild; soon the nerve endings that give warning do not function.

Once affected the body part should be warmed quickly. Immersion in lukewarm- not hot - water or a warm wet towel will help. Meanwhile water shoulds be wrapped, not placed directly against the part. Give a hot liquid, such as coffee. Usually it is best not to open blisters.

For cases of prolonged exposure to cold, place the victim in a tub of warm water, or wrap him well. Keep the water warm, testing often and the room warm, with some humidity. After recovery begins, dry the victim thoroughly, but don't rub damaged tissue. Then warp him well and give a hot drink.

If the frozen ear or toe does not respond to warming treatment, call your doctor at once.

In preparing a budget for the next fiscal year, the Pamplin Town Council finds that it will not be possible to provide necessary town services without an increase in taxes. Because of increasing expenses and decreasing revenue an increase in the town levy from fifty cents (50c) to seventy-five (75c) per one hundred dollar ($100.00) valuation will be necessary to meet expenses of essential services. The minimum schedule for town licenses will be increased from one dollar ($1.00) to five dollars ($5.00).

Homemakers Items

Tracking of snow, salt, and ashes into the house is a bugaboo for the homemaker in the wintertime.

Tracking can damage your carpet if you don't take immediate action.

Melting snow and ice that penetrate the carpet backing create yellow or brown stains — sometimes even mildew. Salt, often used to clear streets and highways of ice and snow, attracts moisture, causing brown stains, a white crust on the carpet pile, and fading. The alkali in ashes harms carpet colors and fibers.

If possible, remove tracked-in snow and ice before it melts. If it should melt on the carpet, blot up the moisture as soon as possible. Spread cloths or paper tissues over the spot and weigh them down. Change them often until all the moisture is absorbed.

Remove ashes and salt immediately with your vacuum cleaner. To prevent permanent damage, have rugs and carpets cleaned as soon as possible after winter soiling.

Baking by telephone isn't a dream. Soon you'll be able to turn the oven controls on, and off by dialing your home telephone number.

Manufacturers wish to design ranges that are convenient to use and easy to clean. Some ranges feature oven doors that can be removed or dropped down so the back corners of the oven are easy to reach. Rounded edges and corners add to cleaning ease. Some ovens have liners that pull out for cleaning, while others have racks that fold aluminum foil sheets, used for disposable oven liners.

Disposable reflector bowl liners, removable surface units or burners, and hinged tops that lift up make it easier to keep the range tops clean. Manufacturers are experimenting with new materials, such as a stain-resistant enamel finish, for both outside and inside surfaces. One manufacturer uses glass covers over gas burners for faster cooking and easier cleaning. Another manufacturer is experimenting with a range top made of a ceramic material that gives an even cooking temperature over the entire cooking top.

One drop of water every two seconds from a leaky faucet will result in a waste of 54 gallons of water a month.
